NEW RIVER GORGE NATIONAL PARK AND PRESERVE

Meet America's 63rd National Park

Since 1978, Southern West Virginia has been home to the New River Gorge National River. On December 27, 2020, the 70,000+ acre park and 53-mile stretch of the river was redesignated as the New River Gorge (NRG) National Park and Preserve.

The approximately 7,000 acres that make up the National Park are located in four areas: Sandstone Falls, Grandview, Thurmond and the Lower New River Gorge. The preserve portion of the National Park and Preserve encompasses the remaining 65,000 acres.

The park is now one of three units in Southern West Virginia managed by the National Park System, along with the Gauley River National Recreation Area and Bluestone National Scenic River. The combined National Park sites extend through five counties in Southern West Virginia: Fayette, Mercer, Nicholas, Raleigh and Summers.

From exciting thrills to the peaceful lull of time spent in nature, experience one of West Virginia's most cherished playgrounds. Paddle down miles of free-flowing whitewater rapids on the New River, one of the oldest rivers on the continent, or explore the old railroad town of Hinton, home to Sandstone Falls, the largest waterfall on the New River. Hike the serene forest trails at Grandview for impressive views of the Gorge and striking displays of Catawba rhododendron in the late spring, or step back in time on a walking tour through the abandoned ghost town of Thurmond. Among these activities, the park and preserve also offers camping, mountain biking, fishing and hunting.

Join us in celebrating the park's wonderful features and adventure activities on your next trip to Southern West Virginia!

Scenic Views & ENDLESS EXPERIENCES

RALEIGH COUNTY | FAYETTE COUNTY | NICHOLAS COUNTY

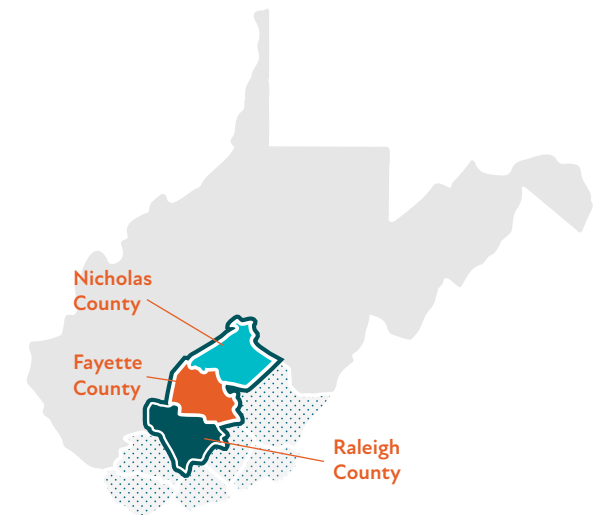

📍 Kanawha Falls

The heart of Southern West Virginia, Raleigh, Fayette and Nicholas counties are known for exciting outdoor recreation and one-of-a-kind attractions.

From the forested trails and rugged rivers to the sandstone cliffs and deep valleys, the region's natural beauty is always on display. Need to unplug? Go on a hike or horseback ride or take a zipline tour, whitewater rafting trip or rock climbing excursion. Spend a day at the lake, fishing or splashing about in the cool waters. There's plenty to explore.

Add in the famed bridge where West Virginia's largest one-day festival occurs every October, the state's largest snow tubing park, a renowned arts and cultural center, historic museums and education sites, a diverse dining scene, and you've got an unforgettable destination.

RALEIGH COUNTY'S NATURAL BEAUTY

Whether you want to spend the day on the water or take in astonishing views, Raleigh County is the perfect place to enjoy the natural beauty of Southern West Virginia.

Grandview

If you're hoping to relax and enjoy the New River Gorge landscape, look no further than the aptly named Grandview. Best-known for its Main Overlook, sightseers can look directly onto the horseshoe bend of the New River from 1,400-feet above. Be sure to check out Grandview's woodland trails and stop at Turkey Spur Overlook.

Plan a trip in the spring to see the area's displays of Catawba rhododendrons. Bloom times differ slightly, so check with a ranger about the best time to see the state's gorgeous flower in full display.

Grandview is also home to Theatre West Virginia, where guests can catch an outdoor drama presentation June through August.

Glade Creek

No matter if you're an avid hiker or a beginner with an appreciation for the trails, Glade Creek offers adventure for everyone.

Glade Creek Trail is a 5.6-mile enjoyable stroll that follows a narrow railroad grade. It's a great hike for all ages. Be sure to bring your rod and reel along for the catch and release trout stream on the lower part of the trail. The path also features small waterfalls and is a favorite among those looking for swimming holes.

A 1/5-mile spur from Glade Creek Trail leads to Kates Falls. Take the Kates Plateau Trail to see 5.1 miles of West Virginia wildlife, including turkeys, beaver and deer, as you walk through the many terrains.

Lake Stephens

Grab your swimsuit and head to Lake Stephens near Beckley to cool off during a hot day. The 272-acre mountain lake sits in the middle of a 2,000-acre hardwood forest and offers boating, fishing, and swimming as well as over 20 miles of hiking and biking trails. Explore the aqua water park and sprinkler pad before an overnight stay in one of the cabins, RV sites or campsites. With picnic shelters, a pavilion and a gazebo, Lake Stephens is a picturesque destination for your next event.

Little Beaver State Park

Little Beaver State Park features 562 acres of outdoor fun. Take a hike on the more than 20 miles of trails in the park or enjoy year-round fishing in the 18-acre lake. Test your balance on a stand-up paddleboard, or hop in a kayak, canoe or paddleboat — all are available for rent on a seasonal basis. Stay for a while in the park's new, cozy cabin, which sleeps up to four people. Little Beaver State Park also has 46 campsites.

RIDE, GOLF AND SKI

IN RALEIGH COUNTY

Sun, snow or rain, Raleigh County has family-friendly activities to enjoy, no matter the forecast.

RIDE

Sometimes, you just want to get off the beaten path. A short, 15-minute drive from Beckley, Burning Rock Off-Road Park takes you away from the smooth surfaces of the paved world and takes you onto the dirt trails of Raleigh County.

10,000 acres to explore and 100 miles of trails...

With 10,000 acres to explore and 100 miles of trails to traverse, Burning Rock has something for every level of off-roader and for a wide variety of vehicles, including bikes, ATVs, UTVs and Jeeps. It's a great getaway for the experienced rider and mud bogger or a thrilling trip for those looking to expand their horizons and test their nerves. Bring your own ride or check out a Polaris RZR rental.

Stay close to all the action and make a weekend — or week — out of your adventures with Burning Rock's many lodging options. The park has a campground, rustic cabins, RV hookups, glamping with plush amenities and a bunkhouse for larger groups.

GOLF

Grab your clubs and hit the links! From challenging courses to whimsical play, Raleigh County offers various options for all levels and ages.

If you know West Virginia golf, you know of The Resort at Glade Springs. This resort boasts three 18-hole championship courses with scenic mountain backdrops.

If you are looking for a shorter course, then plan to tee-off at the Historic Black Knight in Beckley. Open to the public, this course proves there's always "time for nine!"

Head to Mountain State Miniature Golf for a family golfing experience where all 18 holes are West Virginia-themed. Celebrate a post-game victory (or loss) with ice cream or coffee at the adjoining Chocolate Moose.

SKI

Not a hidden gem at all, but a jewel in plain sight, Winterplace Ski Resort features convenience and easy access for those who'd rather spend their time on the slopes, not the road.

Conveniently located right off I-77 in Ghent, the resort offers over 90 acres of skiable land, which includes 27 trails of varying degrees of difficulty, and a terrain park. The longest trail at Winterplace is 1.25 miles long, and the resort offers night skiing on 26 of its 27 trails. Winterplace also has the longest tubing park in the state with up to 14 lanes of snow tubing fun.

And lack of snow is never a problem here. Whether Mother Nature cooperates or not, Winterplace has 100 percent snowmaking capacity.

Great for families and groups, Winterplace is Southern West Virginia's premier winter resort. It's the number one place in the state for beginners learning to ski but still offers plenty of challenges for those with more experience.

For another look at historic Raleigh County, take a tour of the Wildwood House Museum. The former home of Beckley's founder, General Alfred Beckley, the original double log structure was built in 1836. The museum is open to the public during the summer months and throughout the year for pre-arranged visits and special events.

Founded as Black Knight Country Club in 1928, the once private 60-acre park was purchased by the City of Beckley in 2018 to make the space more inclusive to visitors. The Historic Black Knight is the perfect place for events, dining and golf.

TAMARACK MARKETPLACE

Recognizable because of its red spired roof, Tamarack Marketplace is one of greatest showcases of West Virginia anywhere in the state. The cultural hub, which features work by talented individuals from all 55 counties, is known for its artisan products, fine art, hands-on workshops, live entertainment and Appalachian-inspired cuisine. Spend some time browsing the handmade goods, strolling through the galleries and taking in all of the amazing displays. You might even catch a demonstration from the resident glass blower or another studio artist. And, if you get hungry, Tamarack's food court has plenty of tasty options.

HISTORY RUNS DEEP

IN RALEIGH COUNTY

There's no shortage of historic landmarks the entire family can enjoy in Raleigh County.

Southern West Virginia's history with coal runs deep, like the mines themselves. The Beckley Exhibition Coal Mine draws thousands of visitors each year. Open seasonally — April through November 1 — the attraction offers tours of a once operational underground mine guided by veteran miners. Above ground, visitors can see restored period coal camp buildings, including the Coal Company House, Superintendent's Home, Pemberton Coal Camp Church and the Helen Coal Camp School.

3 CAN'T-MISS NEW RIVER GORGE ADVENTURES

FAYETTE COUNTY

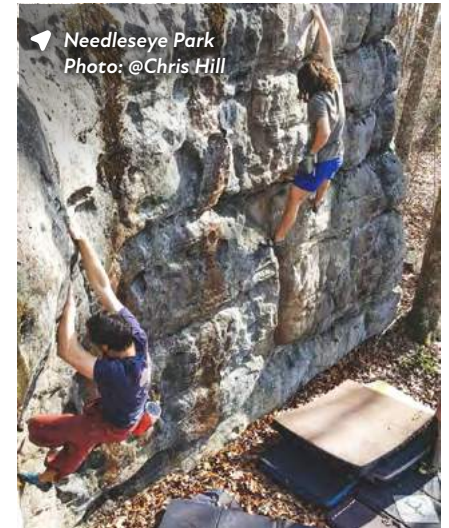

Endless Wall • NRG
National Park & Preserve

With one of the world's oldest rivers and the longest steel arch bridge in the Western Hemisphere in its backyard, the New River Gorge is a hub for outdoor recreation. Try one of these exciting adventures for an incredible trip.

1 Rock Climbing & Bouldering

A climbing mecca, thousands venture to the "Grand Canyon of the East" each year to scale the sandstone cliffs. More than 1,400 established climbs lie within the Gorge's 70,000 acres. Needleseye Park in Oak Hill is a destination for both climbing and bouldering, a technical style of rock climbing that is done without harnesses and ropes.

A lot of routes in the region are more suited for experienced climbers, but beginners are welcome, too. A guided rock climbing trip with an expert instructor is perfect for those starting out. And while the Gorge is accessible year-round, the best times to climb are from late April to mid-June and from mid-September to late October.

2 — Whitewater Rafting

The New River Gorge is known around the world for its whitewater rafting. Here, thrill seekers have two rivers to choose from — upper and lower sections of the New and the Gauley rivers — depending on your group and their experience level.

West Virginia is home to the world's second-oldest river, the New River. For a gentle paddle, book a trip on the Upper New River. The whole family, including children as young as 6, can enjoy the Upper, with its more than 15 miles of Class I to Class III rapids. If you're looking for a little more adventure, grab your paddle and your helmet for a trip on the Lower New River. The Lower's Class II to V rapids are suitable for everyone from the seasoned rafter to kids as young as 12 years old. This is one of the most popular trips, and the view of the New River Gorge Bridge at the end won't disappoint!

Seeking an adrenaline rush? Look no further than the Gauley River. The Gauley is consistently ranked as one of the top five rivers in the world to raft and in the top three to raft in the United States. Every fall, rafters from all around come to conquer the "Beast of the East" during Gauley Season. The Upper Gauley's "Big 5" rapids — Insignificant, Pillow Rock, Lost Paddle, Iron Ring and Sweet's Falls — are iconic in the whitewater rafting community. Dropping over 335 feet in less than 13 miles, the Upper requires experience and a minimum age of 16. The Lower Gauley, described as a "watery rollercoaster," is a 12-mile stretch with Class III to V rapids. Experts say it's very similar to the Lower New trip with just a little more thrill. Rafters must be at least 12-14 years old to raft the Lower Gauley.

NRG National Park & Preserve

3 — Hiking & Biking

The New River Gorge also boasts some amazing hiking trails. For scenic views, follow the Endless Wall Trail, chosen as the "Best National Park Hike" by USA Today in 2015, or Long Point Trail, which offers a stunning perspective of the New River Gorge Bridge at the end. Interested in our region's coal connection? Check out the Headhouse Trail or the Kaymoor Miner's Trail to see historic structures from former mining sites.

From the paved paths of the White Oak Rail Trail to the stacked loops of Arrowhead Trails, mountain biking in the New River Gorge appeals to all riders.

Arrowhead Trails, in the Craig's Branch area, features 12 miles of easy-to-intermediate tracks made up of four trails — the Clovis, Adena, Dalton and LeCroy. The system was built by more than 1,000 members of the Boy Scouts of America's Order of the Arrow honor society in one of the largest youth service projects in the history of the National Park Service.

Those looking for a new route and a place to take in the scenery can visit Wolf Creek Park, one of the region's newest recreational areas. As of Wolf Creek Park's official opening in fall 2020, over 17 miles of trails have been constructed. Another 20-plus miles are still in progress. The project has been a labor of love for the community, with dedicated members organizing numerous work days to assist in the development and maintenance.

NEW RIVER GORGE HISTORY

Best known for Bridge Day and its world-class whitewater rafting, Fayette County is a destination getaway for adventure seekers.

But Fayette County is much more than its rivers. Its history is much longer than the 3,030 feet steel span across that water below.

Named after the Marquis de La Fayette, a French aristocrat who became a hero of the American Revolution, the county was formed in 1831 as part of Virginia, but joined with West Virginia when the new state was recognized by the Union in 1863.

Thurmond

Early on, the richness of the area's coal reserves made it an important piece of the state's vital energy industry. Countless tons of coal were mined from the stony earth and sent by rail to help fuel the nation's insatiable appetite for progress.

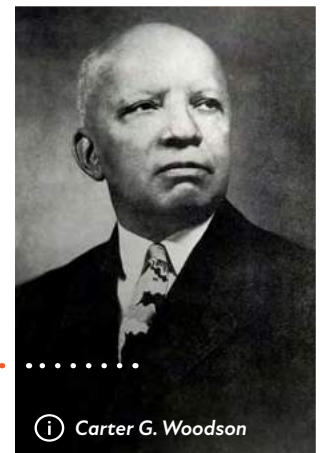

Mining coal was hard, back-breaking work requiring an army of miners to keep up with the demand. Coal mining literally dug the country into the 20th century.

At the height of the boom years, there were more than 60 mining camps and communities in Fayette County.

Carter G. Woodson, the "Father of Black History," started his career working in the Kaymoor and Nuttallburg mines.

Present-Day Nuttallburg

Carter G. Woodson

These places were sometimes permanent, sometimes temporary social centers where workers and their families came together to share a way of life.

Many of those old communities, like Thurmond, Kaymoor and Nuttallburg are long gone. They were abandoned generations ago, as the methods of how men took coal from the ground changed, but they left behind many of the artifacts of that bygone era like the coal coke ovens, which were used to remove the impurities of coal to make it burn hotter for steel production.

Other evidence of the coal camps linger, too. Buildings and signs remain in these ghost towns, leaving marks of the past and continuing on in memory as stories, legends and local lore. Many of these old places can be accessed from one of the trails winding through the hills surrounding Fayette County.

Local trails range from the easy and breezy (like the Burnwood Trail) to the moderately difficult (the Endless Wall Trail) to the very challenging and possibly exhausting (the Kaymoor Miners Trail).

Kaymoor Miners Trail

Many trails can be hiked, others biked and some are good for both. All promise fantastic scenery, spectacular vistas and a rugged charm that can be enjoyed for the first time again and again as the wooded hills of Fayette County transition from one season to the next.

A trip through the backwoods of Fayette County and into the old coal camps isn't a detour back in time, but a trip into a different world.

Dubois on Main Museum Mural • Mount Hope

MOUNT HOPE HISTORIC WALKING TOUR

Designed to highlight architecture reminiscent of the coalfields in the first half of the 20th century, the Mount Hope Historic Walking Tour features 15 historical sites and three public art projects. One of the highlights is the Dubois on Main Museum mural, which depicts the area's African American history. The work of art was painted by community volunteers and alumni of the former Dubois High School, one of two historically black high schools in Fayette County.

It features a phoenix (an homage to the city's former name of Phoenix City) on top of the New River Gorge Bridge. The image represents Mount Hope's connection to the past and focus on the future.

SUMMERSVILLE LAKE: ON & OFF THE WATER

NICHOLAS COUNTY

Summersville Lake

With 2,700 acres of water and more than 60 miles of shoreline, Summersville Lake in Nicholas County is an aquatic playground that’s perfect for swimming, boating, water skiing or a nice picnic along the shore. But there’s also fun to be found off the water at the state’s largest lake.

ON THE WATER

Whether you’re lounging on a pontoon boat, floating on a paddleboard, riding a jet ski or enjoying a refreshing swim, Summersville Lake is one of the best places to beat the heat in Southern West Virginia. A full service marina offers launch ramps and rentals of pontoons, canoes and flat-water kayaks. The calm, flat water makes it ideal for even novice kayakers and boaters.

Aside from boating, scuba diving is also a popular activity because of the lake’s unmatched water quality. The crystal-clear waters, which have earned the lake the nickname “Little Bahamas of the East,” reach a depth of 327 feet. With average summertime visibility of 20 to 45 feet, divers get a view of underwater caverns, rock formations, fish and other marine life. The water’s warm, too, with temperatures usually hanging between 60 to 70 degrees, but it can reach up to 80 degrees in the hottest months of the year.

New to scuba diving? Stop by Sarge’s Dive Shop for training and equipment rentals. Sarge’s also offers daily two-hour dinner cruises during lake season, which runs Memorial–Labor Day.

OFF THE WATER

Rock Climbing

Much of Summersville Lake's shore is lined with rock cliffs and boulders that offer challenging, yet accessible, rock climbing and rappelling. The lake's sandstone cliffs range from 30 to 80 feet tall, and its walls range from slightly to extremely overhanging. There are about 150 bolted and traditional routes that can be climbed with a rope. The lake's sport climbs range from 5.14 to 5.7 in difficulty.

Favorite climbing spots at Summersville Lake include Satisfaction Area, Rat's Hole, Jeff's Bunny Hop, That Eight and Hippie Dreams. In the fall and spring seasons, water levels recede and expose boulders, such as those in Pirate's Cove.

Rock climbing at the lake isn't reserved only for experts; there are several local outfitters in the area that offer a guide service. They can provide you with safety gear and coach you through your first climb.

Summersville Lake Lighthouse

For a bird's-eye view of Summersville Lake that can't be beat, climb the 122 steps to the gallery deck of the state's only functioning lighthouse. The Summersville Lake Lighthouse, located on the Mt. Nebo side of the lake, boasts a 360-degree panoramic view of both the water and the Gauley River National Recreation Area. Erected in 2012, the lighthouse is 104 feet tall and has a top elevation of 2,164 feet. The lighthouse's vintage Westinghouse rotating beacon casts a beam of light that is visible from up to 30 miles away. It is open daily from April–October and by reservation from November–March. Tours are offered during the day and evening as weather permits. Special sunset and fullmoon tours are also available.

NICHOLAS COUNTY: A CIVIL WAR BATTLEGROUND

Civil War and West Virginia history buffs will want to add Carnifex Ferry Battlefield State Park to their must-see list when visiting Nicholas County. The historic site, set on the rim of the Gauley River Canyon, is part of the Civil War Discovery Trail, which links more than 300 historical sites in 16 states.

Just minutes from Summersville, the park is the location of the September 10, 1861, Battle of Carnifex Ferry, during which Confederates failed to regain control of the Kanawha Valley.

This skirmish was key to the formation of the state. Every other year, the battle is reenacted, along with other events like living history demonstrations and military drills.

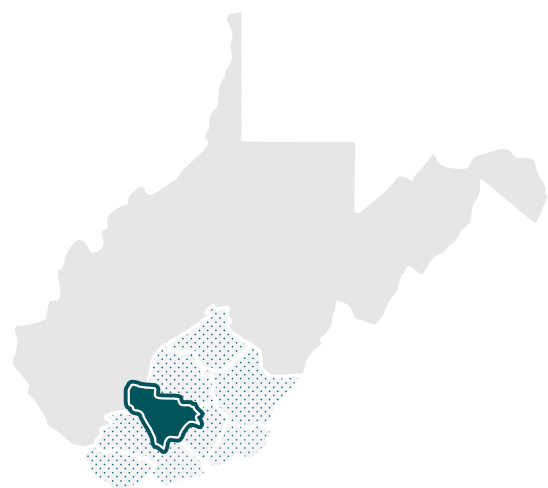

Park visitors can explore the grounds — there are trails leading to the old Ferry site — as well as the Patterson House Museum (open seasonally), which features a collection of battle artifacts on display.

Carnifex Ferry also offers plentiful space for picnicking, hiking trails, a volleyball court and softball field, horseshoe pits and a scenic view overlooking the wild rapids of the Gauley River.

Journey into the Earth and the Past.

Climb aboard an authentic coal car for an underground mine tour. Back on the surface, enjoy a walk around a recreated coal camp, visit the award-winning Youth Museum of Southern West Virginia and stay overnight at the on-site campground. Nearby, Beckley's Historic Black Knight offers golf, swimming, dining and more.

Timeless Towns & FARM COUNTRY

MONROE COUNTY | SUMMERS COUNTY | GREENBRIER COUNTY

The revitalized railroad towns, quaint communities and rolling landscapes of Summers, Monroe and Greenbrier counties are a delightful addition to your Southern West Virginia trip.

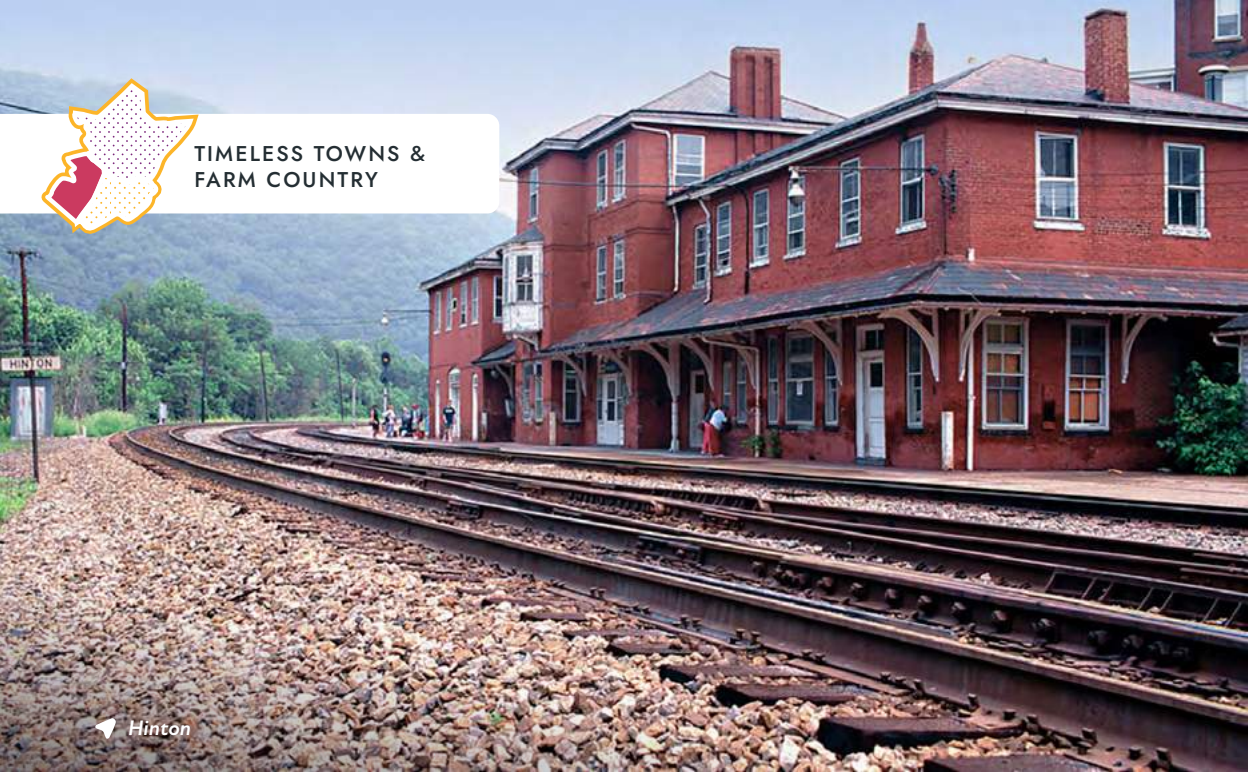

Take a stroll through downtown districts or set out on a hike along one of the area's famous foot trails. See where the three rivers meet and discover local legends. Admire remnants of the past and unwind among nature. Discover art, culture and a thriving food scene. From museums and galleries, to historic churches and cemeteries, to restaurants and breweries, this area appeals to all interests.

Experience the timeless charm of small-town life and quiet appeal of the countryside here.

Hinton

HINTON'S RAILROAD HISTORY

Explore the once bustling railroad town of Hinton and discover how this quiet community keeps its past alive.

As you stroll through Hinton's 16-block historic district you'll see it's a town that deeply honors its past — while still looking toward the future. Here, you'll find buildings from its most prosperous railroad days, including churches, banks and the state's oldest log home. There have been many revitalization efforts in recent years, so you'll also find plenty of eateries, shops and other businesses to enjoy during your trip.

To dig deeper into Hinton's railroad connection, stop in the Railroad Museum on Temple Street. Inside, you'll see photos, records, tools and other artifacts from the town's Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad era. The museum features a model railroad that train enthusiasts are sure to love and a wood carving exhibit of American folk hero John Henry (more on Henry can be found a short drive away in Talcott).

Hinton's Railroad Days festival welcomes thousands of guests to town each autumn. Come to experience Hinton's small-town charm with a beautiful backdrop of fall foliage. Enjoy food, music and vendors. Visitors can gain an even deeper appreciation for how the railroad shaped the town by riding the Autumn Colors Express into Hinton from either Charleston or Huntington. Take a seat in a vintage railcar as it travels through the New River Gorge region before arriving in Hinton for the festival. This day-long trip allows guests to enjoy the region and its beautiful autumn landscape in a unique way!

Don't forget the scenery!

Take a drive to Sandstone Falls, located just a few miles outside of downtown Hinton. There, you'll see a spectacular waterfall, the largest on the New River, with boardwalks that take you out for a closer look at the cascades. Be sure to bring a camera or just take a moment to experience the beauty of West Virginia!

3 UNIQUE PLACES TO VISIT

IN SUMMERS COUNTY

Known as the place “where the three rivers meet,” the area is a delightful destination brimming with history, nature and charm. Here are just a few must-dos when visiting the area.

1. JOHN HENRY HISTORICAL PARK

Located along Route 3 in Talcott, the John Henry Historical Park pays tribute to the “Steel Drivin’ Man” and the dedicated railroad workers he represented. See a statue of the American folk hero in front of the Great Bend Tunnel, where the legendary battle between man and machine — and Henry’s subsequent victory and death — is said to have taken place in 1870. The John Henry statue was unveiled as a roadside attraction in 1972. It was restored and moved to its current location in 2012.

3. MOONSTRUCK MAPLE

Taste syrup straight from the source! Nestled in the mountains of the New River Gorge, Moonstruck Maple sells award-winning pure and gourmet infused maple syrups and maple cotton candy tapped and made on-site. The Moonstruck Maple Farm Stand is open Sundays from 1-4 p.m. and by appointment. Products are also sold through Moonstruck Maple’s website, Turnrow Appalachian Farm Collective’s Online Farmers Market and at several small businesses throughout Southern West Virginia.

2. THE RITZ THEATRE

First opened in 1928 in downtown Hinton, The Ritz Theatre was completely restored in 2009 and has been home to numerous local plays and movies. Be sure to visit their website to check the current calendar of events!

AN OUTDOOR ESCAPE

MONROE COUNTY

Explore the trails, forests, parks and mountains of Monroe County.

Located on the WV/VA border, Monroe County is one of only two West Virginia counties with access to the Appalachian Trail, the iconic 2,200-mile footpath stretching from Maine to Georgia. Hikers can also find the Allegheny Trail here; the two paths intersect at Peters Mountain.

The George Washington and Jefferson national forests have trails for hiking and spots to camp as well as views of beautiful fall foliage during the autumn months.

At Moncove Lake State Park near Union, find tranquil waters and a peaceful setting to enjoy the great outdoors.

The park offers campers a chance to fish, boat, swim, birdwatch and hike. Its campground is open spring through fall, weather permitting.

Birdwatchers will want to flock to the top of Peters Mountain to visit the Hanging Rock Raptor Observatory. Built as a fire tower and used as such until 1972, today the Observatory is one of the best spots in the state to view migrating hawks, eagles, falcons and osprey. Fifteen species of raptors are associated with the observation area. The most birding activity takes place during the fall migration, which runs from August through November.

Hanging Rock Raptor Observatory is one of the best spots in the state to view migrating hawks, eagles, falcons and osprey.

With no electricity or bathrooms besides an outhouse, the Observatory today is just as rustic as it was when it was built. The hike to access the Observatory is about a mile long with an elevation of 350 feet. It can take up to 40 minutes, depending on a person's fitness level.

◀ Moncove Lake State Park

PLANNING A TRIP?

Be sure to bring water!

Also consider:

- 1 An extra layer of clothing (it can be up to 10 degrees cooler at the top)
- 2 Comfortable hiking shoes
- 3 Sunscreen (SPF 30 or higher)
- 4 A hat
- 5 Sunglasses
- 6 Binoculars and a bird book

TIMELESS TOWNS & FARM COUNTRY

QUILT TRAIL

MONROE COUNTY

The story of Monroe County is stitched, quite literally, into the surrounding farmland.

Pickaway

Union

Around here, barns are known for their vivid, intricate “quilt blocks.” The trail traces the entirety of the county, with families adding their own squares to the project all the time. The barns that dot the open countryside will lead you through the majesty, the history and the quaint charm of this boastfully small-time setting. They reflect the distinct Appalachian character of the area — connecting you to centuries of culture that has remained mostly unchanged.

The trail opened in Monroe County in 2011 with just 20 squares and has grown to recognize nearly 60 distinctive patterns. The first square, “Farmer’s Fancy,” was created for the trail in 1925, with new blocks added each year. Travel the Rural Heritage Quilt Trail and find your favorite!

Follow the country roads along the quaint winding courses of Indian, Second, Rich, Cove, Potts, and Hans Creeks; the gently rolling plateaus of farmland; and the picturesque valleys, nestled along the lofty ridges of the Appalachian Mountains take you on a memorable road trip.

◀ Downtown Lewisburg

A VIBRANT ODE TO THE PAST

GREENBRIER COUNTY

One of America's Coolest Towns, Lewisburg stands out in the mountains of West Virginia for its small-town charm and metropolitan sophistication.

◀ Lost World Caverns

◀ Greenbrier River Trail

There's a little bit of everything here — history, art, culture, music and yes, even craft beer.

Lewisburg is home to Greenbrier Valley Brewing Company, one of the state's most popular independent breweries and the maker of West Virginia-themed beers like the Devil Anse IPA, named for Devil Anse Hatfield, and the Mothman Black IPA, a brew inspired by the mountain state's best-known cryptid.

Prefer something a little drier? Check out Hawk Knob Hard Cider and Mead for an artisanal take on an Appalachian specialty.

Wander the nationally registered Downtown Lewisburg Historic District, enjoying the relaxed pace. Admire the intricate architecture, browse the local galleries and boutiques and get a taste of the thriving food scene with dinner at The French Goat, a chic bistro offering a twist on classic French dishes.

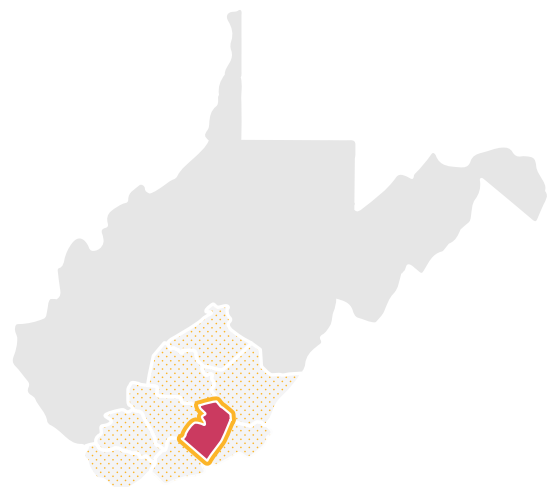

◀ The French Goat

For an artsy experience, attend a show at Greenbrier Valley Theatre or Lewisburg's own Carnegie Hall, one of four left in the world still in continuous use, and a cultural center for art, music and theater.

Not far from Carnegie Hall is the Confederate Cemetery, the final resting place of 95 unidentified Confederate soldiers, and the North House Museum, run by the Greenbrier Historical Society.

You can also tour the county, visit local covered bridges (Herns Mill in Lewisburg and Hokes Mill in Ronceverte), explore the underground at Lost World Caverns or hike, bike or horseback ride along the 78-mile Greenbrier River Trail.

Whether you come for a day or stay for the week, there's plenty to see and do in Lewisburg.

Historic Coalfields & OFF-ROAD ADVENTURES

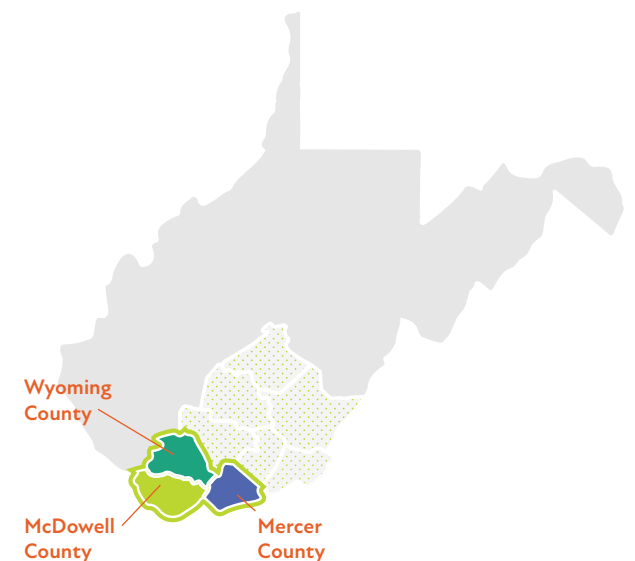

WYOMING COUNTY | MCDOWELL COUNTY | MERCER COUNTY

◀ Camp Creek State Park

Whether you are tackling the trails or exploring the rich coal history, excitement is waiting for you off-the-beaten path in Wyoming, Mercer and McDowell counties.

Venture to one of the area's three state parks to discover cascading waterfalls, scenic vistas and miles of hiking and mountain biking trails. For an extra adrenaline rush, kick up some dust on an ATV, UTV or dirt bike on the Hatfield-McCoy Trails network, one of the largest off-road vehicle trail systems in the country.

From coal camps and houses that dot the countryside to a recreated 1830s homestead to the first World War I Memorial Building, historians will also enjoy the remaining traces of the past found in these counties.

WYOMING COUNTY

MOUNTAIN GETAWAY

Stunning waterfalls, living history, trail riding and more await in Wyoming County.

Plan a stay at Twin Falls Resort State Park, a mountaintop hideaway covering almost 4,000 acres in Mullens, West Virginia. The park offers year-round accommodations which include campsites, cabins and the main lodge.

Explore more than 30 miles of hiking and biking trails at Twin Falls. Broken up into paths of varying difficulty, the trails take hikers through a variety of natural habitats. The aptly named Nature Trail features maples, rhododendron, magnolias and other plant life as well as birds, salamanders and more woodland creatures. Follow the Falls Trail and marvel at the two picturesque cascades on the property — Foley Falls and Black Fork Falls. The park's namesake "twin falls" are located half a mile apart on the Marsh and Black Forks of Cabin Creek and can be accessed by a short hike from the main parking lot. Both waterfalls are seasonal and are best to visit in the wet spring months.

HISTORIC COALFIELDS & OFF-ROAD ADVENTURES

For history buffs, catch a glimpse of frontier life at the park's fully-functional Pioneer Farm. Originally built in the 1830s and reconstructed in the 1970s, this living history homestead offers guests a peak into authentic 1830s mountain farm life on the frontier. Though you can't go inside, you can take photos! In fact, it is one of the top photographed attractions in the West Virginia State Park system. Visit earlier in the day, and it's also likely you'll see some of the resident livestock out and about.

Play a round at the 18-hole championship golf course designed by noted architects Geoffrey Cornish and George Cobb. Other recreational highlights include a nature center, swimming pool, outdoor amphitheatre and tennis, basketball and volleyball courts.

The Twin Falls Restaurant, open year-round, offers a full breakfast, lunch and dinner menu. Dine on regional Appalachian favorites like biscuits and gravy, fried green tomatoes, a "traditional mountain dinner" of ham and beans, West Virginia rainbow trout and more.

Also while in Wyoming County, hit the ATV trails for a thrilling adventure. Wyoming County is home to the Pinnacle Creek Trail System — 80 miles of the most scenic trails of the Hatfield-McCoy Trail System. The Castle Rock Trail Head, connected to Pocahontas and Indian Ridge trails, creates the largest continuous trail group on the Hatfield-McCoy Trail System. Spend a day riding along the rich highlands of Southern West Virginia for breathtaking mountain views of Pinnacle Creek and direct access to gas, food and lodging.

Hatfield-McCoy Trails

TRAILS TERRITORY

MERCER & MCDOWELL COUNTIES

Southern West Virginia is home to some of the best outdoor recreation, including ATV trail riding.

Our area has the largest contiguous trail system in the United States: the Hatfield-McCoy Trails. Made up of ten individual trail systems, four of which are in Southern West Virginia, the Hatfield-McCoy Trails are open year-round to ATVs, UTVs and dirt bikes.

Welch

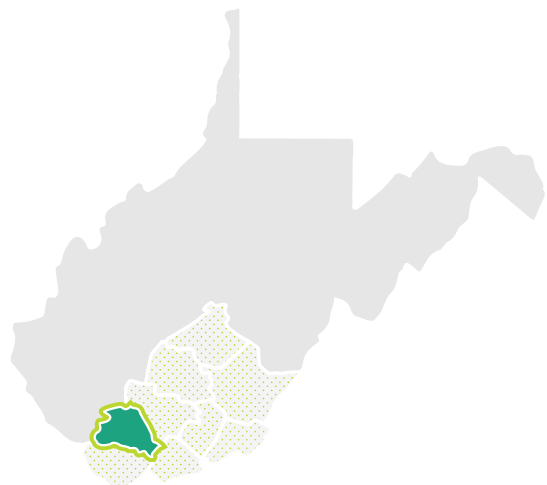

Pinnacle Rock State Park

With over 1,000 miles, these trails offer something for riders of every skill level. If you like dirt and adventure, this is one of the best ways to explore the mountains of West Virginia. Head out on an off-road excursion in McDowell and Mercer counties.

McDowell County is home to two off-road systems in the Hatfield-McCoy Trails network: the Indian Ridge Trail System and the Warrior Trail System. Indian Ridge has 75+ miles of trails with various levels of difficulty. For more rugged terrain, ride along the Warrior, which offers over 65 miles of off-road fun.

For easier riding that is good for beginners, travel to Mercer County to ride the Pocahontas Trail System. These trails are more scenic and have less challenging sections than some of the others, making them perfect for a family trip. The Pocahontas Trail Head is located in the historic town of Bramwell and connects to the Indian Ridge Trail. As a bonus, visitors can fuel up on local eats and experience Southern West Virginia hospitality at ATV-friendly towns along the way.

SOUTHERN WEST VIRGINIA

SCENIC TRAILS TO EXPLORE

Our region features one National Park and Preserve, 12 state parks and forests, as well as two areas managed by the National Park Service, with breathtaking landscapes around every bend. From family-friendly paths to more challenging terrain, Southern West Virginia has trails of all types. Journey through forests, by waterways and along former railroad tracks. Whether you choose to travel on foot or by bike, the options are endless.

FRIENDLY REMINDER

While exploring, please be mindful of the environment around you and your impact on it. Remember to “pack it in, pack it out” and don’t leave trash behind. Also, adhere to parking signs and only leave your vehicle in designated areas. Help us keep Southern West Virginia looking its best and welcoming visitors for years to come!
